Dear Homer:

While I have known for some days of your new and important duties, I waited to write until it became a matter of public record. It is extremely gratifying to know that you are to take over this important and strategic post.

When you have an opportunity, we should welcome the chance here of giving you any background briefings which you feel might be of use to you to supplement those you will get at State. Please let me know when it would meet your convenience to do so.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
